Persistence pays off as sod turned at Haliburton seniors' complex

Two years ago Dysart Reeve Murray Fearrey and his council had a dream. On Sunday that dream became reality as construction of a 50 unit senior citizen's apartment building in Haliburton Village officially commenced with a sod turning ceremony at the building site adjacent to Rotary Beach.

On hand to take part in the ceremony were Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins, MP Bill Scott, County Warden Harry Davis, Haliburton Rotary Club President Dale Robinson, and Legion President Joan Irish.

The three storey complex will cost approximately $1,843,700, most of which will come from the provincial government. Funding was applied for through the Haliburton Legion and final approval was received last March. Construction - it actually began last March - is expected to take nine months.

In a speech given at the Haliburton Legion Hall after the sod turning, Bill Scott congratulated all those involved in the project.

"The seniors' apartment went through," he said, "because of the initiative of the community."

Mr. Scott described the attitude of the village as ongoing and aggressive. "People want to live here," he added, "because you continually strive to make the community more appealing."

He was referring particularly to the determined way in which members of the Haliburton Legion and municipal council pursued both the federal and provincial governments for funding.

The Legion, at the encouragement of Dysart Council, first applied to the Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation for funding in September of 1984. Despite the fact that land for the complex had already been purchased and donated by the Legion, the application was rejected by the federal corporation. Three successive, slightly changed applications were also rejected.

On the advice of a housing development consultant hired to assist in the application process, a fifth request for funding was sent to the provincial government in January of 1985.

That request was accepted, and two months later the Legion received written approval for their project from the recently formed Ontario Housing Corporation.

Acceptance of the fifth application is partly attributed to the fact that responsibility for the funding of housing projects was passed in 1985 from CMHC, a federal agency, to Ontario Housing Corporation.

Another important factor in securing funding was the land donated for the project by both the Legion and Rotary Club. The value of the gift is set at approximately $67,000.

Members of the Haliburton Community Housing Corporation - an organization set up by the Legion to take charge of the project - also attribute part of the success of the funding application to Gibson & Associates, the Toronto housing development consulting firm.

The new housing complex has already attracted strong interest among seniors. "Construction has only just started and already we have more than 125 people on the waiting list," said Deirdre Gibson, president of Gibson & Associates and head of the tenant selection committee.

Ms. Gibson stressed that tenant selection would be chosen according to need rather than by first come first serve.

Those chosen, she added, would pay rent geared to their financial ability. Earlier it was feared tenants might end up having to pay rent at market rates. And there being no comparable buildings in the area, it appeared for a time, she said, that they might have to shop for rent com-

Symbolic of the many organizations contributing to the construction of the senior citizens' complex in Haliburton, representatives share the ceremonial sod turning. Those taking part, from the left, included MPP John Eakins, Haliburton Rotary Club president Dale Robinson, head of the Haliburton Community Housing Corporation Cliff Dawson, Branch 129 president Joan Irish and MP Bill Scott.

Schell resigns from post

Minden Municipal Law Enforcement Officer, Dick Schell, has announced his resignation from the municipal staff. The announcement came Tuesday morning following a meeting with the township council.

Mr. Schell, who has served the community as by law officer and building inspector for the past 13 1/2 years, will be taking up the position of chief building official and by law enforcement officer for the municipality of Dysart et al. His resignation is effective October 10. He will assume his new responsibilities October 14.

Admitting that it was a difficult decision to make, Mr. Schell said he has enjoyed working in this community and found the people pleasant to deal with, despite the sometimes difficult decisions he had to make. A native of the Haliburton area, Mr. Schell said this new post will involve fewer areas of responsibility. He said he was looking forward to the challenges of working in the larger municipality. Mr. Schell expects to move to the Haliburton area within a year.

In Haliburton, he will replace the present chief by law officer Bob English who is taking on a new position with the Haliburton Ambulance Service.

Union and county sign contract at Hyland Crest

After almost two years without a contract, Canadian Union of Public Employees workers at Hyland Crest Senior Citizens' Home in Minden have now agreed on a wage settlement with the county.

The previous contract ran out in 1985 and the

In addition to his responsibilities as by law enforcement officer and chief building inspector in Anson, Hindon and Minden, Mr. Schell was the welfare officer, animal control officer, secretary treasurer for the committee of adjustment, member of the planning advisory committee, committee member for the Ontario Home Renewal Program, inspector of the Residential Rehabilitation Assistance Program, weed inspector, property standards officer, supervisor of township dumps and landfill sites, supervisor for the maintenance and cleaning of municipal buildings, evaluator for livestock and poultry lost to wild animals or dogs, and a former representative on the Ontario Housing Corporation, serving Lindsay and Haliburton.

bargaining session between the county and the union was described by Dysart et al Reeve Murray Fearrey at the September 17 county council meeting as "bitter." After the county failed to reach an agreement with the union the dispute was taken to a conciliation officer.

When his attempts failed, it went to an arbitration board.

The board began hearing the case in July and council received the results just before the September meeting.

In order to make the final grant application competitive, a number of cost-cutting design changes in the architect's plans had to be made. The architect, Robert Reimers, stressed that the changes would not affect the overall quality of the building. Only extras and luxuries had been eliminated, Mr. Reimers said.

Everyone is invited. Entry forms are available from members of the Lions' Club and at The Times office. The walk starts at 1 p.m. at the Minden Community Centre Sunday, October 5th, and participants are asked to arrive with their entry forms at least 15 minutes before the start.

A few tips for participants:

- it doesn't matter if you don't have a dog. Borrowed animals are also accepted.
- keep your dog on a leash.
- do not permit your pooch to wander on private property.
- old or infirm animals may be carried or transported in a stroller.

After the walk, water will be provided for both dogs and people and everyone is asked to bring his own bowl or plastic drinking container.

Dorset acid rain report

The following report on precipitation recorded at the Ministry of Environment testing station in Dorset is provided by Environment Canada. There were three precipitation events during the past reporting period.

- on September 22, 31 mm of rain fell at Dorset with a pH of 4.5. The rain was traced from Michigan and central Ontario.

- on September 25, one mm of rain was recorded with a pH of 4.3. The track of the rain was from Michigan and Central Ontario.

- on September 26, 5 mm of rain was recorded with a pH of 4.2. The rain was tracked from northwestern Quebec.

Environmental damage is usually observed in sensitive areas regularly receiving precipitation with pH less than 4.7. Readings of 4.0 or less are considered dangerous to the environment. The lower the pH reading the more acidic the precipitation.

Looking forward to challenges

As far as Karl Samuelson is concerned, the Hyland Crest Senior Citizen's Home has the potential to be an excellent institution. And as the home's new administrator, Samuelson is adamant about this. "We may not have the budget of some big, 400 bed organization," he says, "But we can be just as compassionate."

He took up his responsibilities at the home just two weeks ago and he likes what he's seen since then. The building and setting are beautiful, Samuelson remarks, and he's also impressed with the caring attitude shown by the staff. "Even the residents have welcomed me and helped to make my transition more comfortable."

The new administrator is optimistic about the future of the home. "I feel that with the co-operation of management and staff we can develop into a model organization for the area."

And he's also determined: "What ever I have to do to ensure that each person has his or her self esteem and dignity enhanced, I will do it. I'm going to dedicate myself to this."

A realist by nature, Samuelson admits there are some problems that are going to have to be dealt with. Staff and management at Hyland Crest are only just recovering from a long and bitter contract dispute that had to go into arbitration, so ruffled feathers - on both sides - will have to be smoothed. Not an easy job.

And then there's the building itself. It's still in good shape but after 20 years of service minor repairs and maintenance will have to be carried out, not least of which is the purchase of a new roof within the next few years.

But after only two weeks on the job, Samuelson feels it's still too early to start talking about specific changes and new programs. Instead, he's going to watch and wait until he can develop a better understanding of the home and its needs.

Karl Samuelson new administrator at Minden's Hyland Crest.

Just from the number of degrees and diplomas on his office wall - a BA, an MA, a journalism diploma from England, an MBA from the United States, and a degree in health services management from the University of Ottawa - you can see that Samuelson is well qualified for his position.

More than just degrees, he's also got experience both in his own field and in dealing with people in general. Before coming to work at Hyland Crest he was a member of the senior management team at Sir Thomas Roddick Hospital in St. John's, Newfoundland. And before that he travelled widely in Canada, the United States, and Europe.

He's also done a fair amount of writing. He's penned stories - on subjects as diverse as Turkish political history and the value of public relations in hospitals - for Canadian health care magazines, CBC Radio, and a number of European stations as well.

And though he doesn't play anymore, Samuelson is keenly interested in hockey. Likely, he could still strike terror into most opposing teams with his broad, 6' 3" frame, but after a particularly bad accident during a game in his teens, he's content these days to watch from the stands.

So Samuelson is, to say the least, well-equipped in practical experience of living and in knowledge to carry out whatever plans for the home he decides to make. The most immediate task ahead of him, he says, is to make sure everyone - staff and residents - feels as positive about the future as he does.

Their fair share

It's been said that a society can be judged by examining how well it treats its minorities. The well-being of the disadvantaged, underprivileged, handicapped and "forgotten" members of a society usually offer a telling reflection of its compassion and concern.

While there are some glaring exceptions, Canadian society would be judged, we feel, as one which endeavours to ensure that good fortune is shared by all, that every member of a community has at least an opportunity to be a contributing, participating member of that society.

That fact is exemplified by the Woodcraft Shop in Haliburton. The story of the small manufacturing outlet which makes wooden furniture, toys and knick-knacks is detailed on the page opposite.

Begun as a shelter workshop for the mentally handicapped, the effort has grown in twelve short years to a contributing part of the local community. The employees are still selected from among those, who, for some reason or another, would be difficult to place in an environment with less supervision. Despite that reality, which likely never will change, the employees are part of a system which expects, and we are tempted to add, demands, that they contribute to the best of their ability in a responsible manner. The expectations of the supervisors and fellow workers is high, a situation not dissimilar to that found in workshop locations anywhere in the country.

The employees of Woodcraft have responded to that challenge in a way that leaves little doubt that they want their contribution to be appreciated as much as those outside the work environment. We think it is.

Certainly, the move to separate the workplace from the retail store (so shoppers may indeed be unaware of the origin of the products) and the willingness to blend into the community fabric by dropping the well-known and sympathetically received 'ARC' name, provides two strong indications of the faith and confidence the organizers and supervisors have in their employees and their product.

The founding group, staff and employees of Woodcraft are to be congratulated for the success of their bold and innovative efforts in community integration.

Re: Walk For Water.
On Saturday, October 4, the H.A.V.E. (Help A Village Effort) Committee is holding its third annual meeting. Most of you know about us through our Walk For Water and November Variety Evening. We extend this invitation to any and all to attend our annual meeting and find out more about us and how we use the money donated so generously by this county.

Find out what it takes to drill even one of the 20 wells you have provided so far. Find out about our 4 km water pipeline in the Himalayan foothills, the Rural Health Clinic we are starting and the 20 new wells on the way in drought-stricken India. Learn about the desperate need of others and why we feel it is necessary to help them on the other side of the world.

Come and join us at 8:00 p.m., Saturday, October 4 at CHACE Place in Haliburton, see how we function and perhaps join us yourself. We also remind this year's walkers that the annual meeting will be your first chance to pick up tax receipts for your donations. We hope to see you there.

Tourism is important

Tourism and Victoria - Haliburton - it's a topic I discuss frequently in this space because I feel we do not always realize the impact the tourism industry has on the economy of the riding.

Colour change is early this year. In southern Ontario, it's running about 2 weeks ahead of "schedule".

To most Ontarians, it comes as a surprise that we really are a "privileged few". Most of the world doesn't experience a colour cavalcade. And even as close as Washington, D.C., or the prairies, the colours are pale versions of the spectacular which we take almost for granted.

The annual colour change is the product of two phenomena. The first is a mix of different pigments within tree leaves. The second is the annual shutdown of the tree's food-producing factories for winter.

Every tree species has its own unique mix of pigments, which are actually enzymes, producing the various foods and specialized chemicals needed by the plant. The most important is chlorophyll, which not only converts sunlight, carbon dioxide and other raw materials into sugars, but whose green colour also masks other pigments.

At this time of year, the earth's tilting (relative to the sun) is knocking off about 4 - 5 minutes of daylight each day and reducing the intensity of light reaching the earth. It's also producing cold nights and generating cloudy weather which reduces still-further the quality of light. Your eyes may not notice the change as being dramatic (eyes are marvellously adapted to adjust to brightness) but the energy value may plummet 80% in heavy cloud. Heavy and persistent rains soak the ground. These events foretell - through the plant's genetic "memory" - of approaching winter.

Most trees begin a process of shedding the fragile, moisture-losing structures which leaves constitute. As each leaf shuts down its production of chlorophyll, the green fades away, revealing the yellow pigments which are the fall-trademark of poplars and birch. In a few species (like sumach) their pigments go through elaborate chemical changes - producing the vibrant oranges and reds. None is more dramatic than the sugar maple, whose extraordinary sugar production factors in the chemistry. Sharp temperature changes - alternating cold nights and sunny days - accelerate the process and heighten colour. But they also speed the formation of a corky "abscission" layer across the base of the leaf stem, which seals the leaf (producing a final colour-burst) and releases it to the breeze.

Trees that grow 'with their toes in the water' (like swamp maples) are the first

Woodcraft meets the needs of customers and employees alike

by John Greenwood

Take a step inside the Woodcraft store in the basement of the Village Barn on Haliburton's Main Street some day. You'll be surprised by the array of lawn furniture, custom name plates, clocks, towel bars, book shelves, toys and general knick-knacks, all polished and carefully displayed around the room.

And the interesting thing is that all of it is made of wood. White pine and cedar.

Each piece, each toy and furniture accessory, has been carefully machined, sanded and fitted together. Most of the products are finished with varnish so the natural wood grain shows through.

Apparently news of the Woodcraft store has got around because, says plant manager Rob McLagan, this past year has been excellent for business, with sales triple what they were the previous year.

McLagan is delighted about that. "People have obviously noticed the quality and value of our merchandise," he says. "And when customers find good value, they buy."

What he doesn't want is for people to buy from the store just because the products are made by mentally handicapped workers. The workshop where 14 handicapped woodcraft employees daily put in their hours is only three minutes walk from the main street retail outlet, but there's nothing in the store to tell customers who made the products on the shelves - and on the shelves of nine other Haliburton County stores.

The success of the store, says McLagan, is proof that the mentally handicapped can fit into society and perform a valuable function at a level with the rest of the working population. One can only agree with him.

As one of the projects of the Haliburton and District Association for the Mentally Retarded, Woodcraft Industries is intended to provide training and sheltered employment for Haliburton County's mentally retarded. Workers at the plant have all passed through the education system (wherever possible, the school board puts handicapped and normal children in the same classes) and most are over 18.

Some, explains McLagan, remain indefinitely at Woodcraft because the environment and working conditions are just what they need. Others stay only a short time, choosing instead to take advantage of the valuable work training and then move on to a job in the competitive employment sector of the community.

"We have one fellow," he says, "who worked at Woodcraft long enough to learn the ropes of the working world - how to show up in the mornings regularly and on time and how to perform a task that may sometimes be unpleasant for him. After performing well for us, he got a job at a local cleaner, and he's there now."

It's not uncommon for Woodcraft employees to move on to one of the other programs run by the Haliburton Association for the Mentally Retarded.

"The association also runs work crews in the Community. They're supervised groups of retarded people who go out into the area to cut lawns, paint houses, shovel driveways, or just about anything else customers need done. Some of the work crew employees are veterans of Woodcraft as well."

The work crew, says McLagan, is a natural progression from Woodcraft. Employees on the crews are required to be more independent and responsible than those in the workshop. And if an employee continues to show a capacity for development, he adds, he's encouraged, like the man working as the cleaner, to find competitive employment outside the protective umbrella of the association.

Busy workplace

The atmosphere in the Woodcraft plant on a

Monday morning is bustling and positive. Workers at the various stations are intent on their jobs, sanding wooden parts, fastening them together and varnishing the finished product. They talk amongst themselves, but you can see that the most important thing for them is the task at hand.

"Yes, they're very motivated," says McLagan. "As in any business, some of the workers are more productive than others, but as a rule they're all competitive and take a great deal of pride in their work."

And like their counterparts in the marketplace, these workers occasionally have morale problems. "Sometimes an employee will get tired of a particular job and occasionally someone will find there's something - maybe sanding, or drilling - that he just doesn't like to do.

"They let you know when it happens and we do our best to sort it out." Clearly McLagan and the other

The Chamber of Commerce annual meeting is fast approaching. It will be the night of October the 29th. The reception begins at 6 o'clock with a dinner to follow at 7 o'clock. Greg Sorbara, the Minister for the Ontario Skills Development Ministry will be the key note speaker.

The meeting, this year will be held at Wig-A-Mog Inn. Tickets, (including the price of the meal) will be $20.00 per person. This is an important meeting, and all members should plan to attend.

Trent Severn water levels

In the week since September 19 the rainfall in the Kawartha area has generally exceeded 50 mm. This has all come since the navigation locks from Buckhorn to Trenton were closed on the 18th. Re-opening, which had been expected to be possible by the 24th has been delayed till Saturday, September 27.

Rainfall in the Haliburton Lakes area has been only a little less, but has not seemed to cause much refilling of the lakes. So far the lakes are only delayed a little from the 10-year average at about 56% of maximum.

Drier weather would certainly be welcome to help clear the surplus before Thanksgiving.

to change. This is because the soil in low spots is the first to be saturated by the increasing rain and reducing evaporation of late summer and early fall.

This year, both August and September have been unusually cloudy and exceptionally wet - producing conditions which the trees "think" are more typical of mid-late October.

As a result, swamp maples (some of which began to change in late August) are now about peak. And on uplands, colour is advancing early, but is also strung-out. Many of our trees may never hit peak colour, unless we soon get some 'Indian summer' type weather, they'll simply rot off and unceremoniously drop like mouldy tissue.

But if we get a few of those 'glorious' days, head for the hills - there'll be another of those famous displays envied world-wide.

It is also the time that the Chamber elects its new Board of Directors, for a term of 12 months. Several current directors have indicated that they will not be running again this year. We need people who sincerely believe in the future of this County and who are prepared to work and contribute to help improve it.

It is especially important this year as the board must deal with a deficit of some 8-10 thousand dollars. It will also be the year that COTA's three year agreement with ALCOM marketing ends. If you would like to know more about serving as a director on our board please contact myself or the nominating chairman, John Mateer of Hart Lodge.

We also hope to name a Highlander of the Year, this year at the annual dinner. Nominations for the Highlander should be sent to the Chamber Office prior to our October board meeting. He or she should be a resident of this County. They cannot currently be a public servant or an elected official but must have made a worthwhile contribution to the County over a period of time.

Man charged after assault

On September 23 1986, an assault took place in McClintock Township. Jake Wood, 22, of R.R. 1, Dwight was charged with assault causing bodily harm after Paul Card, 23, also of R.R. 1, Dwight suffered minor injuries as a result of the assault.

Court convictions

William Grant Porter, aged 26, of Minden appeared in District Court in Lindsay on September 25 before District Judge John Kerr. Porter was convicted of fraudulently obtaining $172.00 welfare in January of 1985. He was fined $250, put on probation for one year and has to make restitution of the $172.00.

Found property

A paddle boat was found during the past week at Head Lake, Haliburton and the owner is unknown. Anyone missing such a boat should contact the OPP office with a description.

Contract settled

The board, Mr. Fearrey said, came down on the side of the union.

The new agreement is expected to be signed within the next week.

According to the agreement, the average Hyland Crest worker will receive ten to fifteen dollars per week on top of what they were paid under the old agreement.

Although the crux of the dispute, in the end, was only "a number of small disagreements in wording," Mr. Fearrey said, the negotiations were bitter.

Staff at Hyland Crest will now be paid at approximately the same rate as workers at the Minden and Haliburton hospitals.

The county argued at the negotiations that as a rural centre, Haliburton County could not afford to pay workers wages comparable to those received by their urban counterparts. Also, the county argued, the cost of living in Haliburton is lower than in cities.

The union however, argued that equal work deserved equal pay. The arbitration board agreed.

staff members have been very successful at this.

One way they try to keep morale high at Woodcraft is by letting the workers see the results of their labours and thereby instilling a sense of accomplishment. "They see when the rough boards come in from the mill and they plane them and cut them to size here in the workshop," explains McLagan. "The workers do everything themselves, and they understand how a piece of rough pine becomes a child's toy or a piece of furniture. That way they learn to be proud of their work."

Woodcraft designs are constantly changing. New ideas are offered by volunteers and outsiders and often the staff themselves. When a product loses popularity, it's dropped from the line - every year three or four designs are abandoned - and new ones are found to take their places.

That's another way the employees are kept interested in their work. For every routine job that has to be done, there's something that's a little different, an experiment.

Obviously many of the experiments fail, but from the few that work, Woodcraft has been able to build up a formidable list of popular and successful designs.

Evolution

Like the products it has developed, the growth of Woodcraft itself has a kind of evolutionary process. Twelve years ago, mentally retarded people over the age of 18 in Haliburton County didn't have a lot of options to choose from. Either they could stay at home and be cared for by parents and family or they could go off to an institution, there to spend the rest of their days. For a lucky few with wealthy parents or progressive teachers, things might have been different, but for most, this was the choice.

However, in 1974, the Haliburton Association for the Mentally Retarded decided that something had to be done for retarded adults. So with the help of funding from the Ministry of Community and Social Services, a small workshop was set up at the old Lakeview School - now part of Sir Sandford Fleming Campus - with four workers and one staff member.

That first operation proved successful in providing training and employment for mentally retarded workers. Gradually a product line was developed and as more and more people bought the wooden toys and household accessories, the community and program organizers began to realize the workshop's value.

It's grown considerably since those early stages. Now, in 1986, there are between 14 and 15 employees and three staff. Four years ago the workshop was moved into town - to an old Curry Motors building adjacent to the Haliburton Legion - and last year the Association for the Mentally Retarded was able to convince the Ministry of Community and Social Services to fund the rental of a store in the basement of the Village Barn.

"This is an exciting development for us," says McLagan. "We've been planning to be on Main Street for many years now - we've finally done it."

The move has done wonders for Woodcraft sales. As program organizers guessed, their products would become more popular as more people found out about them. Before the main street store was found, Woodcraft products were sold from a retail outlet at the workshop which, because of its location, was not a first stop for most tourists and visitors.

The staff at the workshop have felt confident enough in the last few years to change the name of their program from ARC (Adult Rehabilitation Centre) to Woodcraft Manufacturers.

"We believe the things we produce are good enough to sell on their own merit," explains McLagan. "We've reached the stage where the fact that our employees are retarded should be seen by our customers as a coincidence."

Clearly Woodcraft has itself developed into an important and valuable organization. Where Haliburton County's mentally retarded once faced the prospect of a bleak adult life, they can now look forward to a future of useful employment in the community.

Asked if the Association for Mentally Retarded has planned further development for Woodcraft, program co-ordinator Don Lethbridge says there will always be plans. "There's been a heck of a lot of growth in the program since it began in 1974 and we hope there will be more."

"There will always be ways of improving the capacity of mentally retarded people to participate effectively in the community. Once we stop changing to make things better, then we're dead."

Farmer relocation help

- by Bill Scott, MP -

The federal government has announced the Canadian Rural Transition Program, a new program designed to help farm families who have no choice but to give up farming because of financial difficulties. Being self-employed, farmers have generally not been eligible for this type of federal assistance. The program helps all those who have to leave the farm and take up another way of life.

Financial assistance of $1,600 per family will be provided for the first month after approval of the application to help cover living expenses. Additional income support may be paid over the following five months. The amount of support is determined as follows: $140 a week for a person without dependents; $168 a week for a person with a single dependent; and $14 a week for each additional dependent.

The costs of training courses to prepare for entry into the job market can also be reimbursed. The program may provide up to $100 a day toward the purchase of training, for a maximum of 52 weeks. Payments are made to the trainee on presentation of proof of registration, or directly to the organization offering the course. Training assistance can be made available to any member of a family who has been engaged in the operation of the farm business.

An income support contribution may be paid during the training period. The training allowance is possible for a maximum of 52 weeks. For an eligible family of four, the contribution is $784 a month.

Assistance may be given to a farm family member, or paid on that person's behalf, to help him or her seek employment in another area of Canada. To be eligible, the applicant must have good chances of finding a job. Travel assistance is also provided when a family member is to take training approved under the program. Payment for travel is calculated at the rate of 10 cents per kilometre, up to a maximum of $100 if the participant uses his or her vehicle. The contribution can also cover the cost of a return ticket on public transportation, subject to approval.

Participants in approved training course, or those who have to stay overnight in a place where they are seeking employment, may receive an accommodation allowance of $25 per night, for up to two nights. The program also helps cover relocation expenses of a farm family member who has found employment in another area of the country. Assistance is calculated as follows: 10 cents per kilometre for the distance between the residence and the new place of employ-and municipalities in several important ways.

The initiative has seven parts, the first being the Capital Assistance Program which will provide financial assistance to develop major tourism facilities in Eastern Ontario. The second program, Commercial Tourist Marinas will focus on assistance to facilities along our waterways such as the Trent-Severn Waterway.

The Feasibility and Planning Studies Program will assist the industry in the development of feasibility studies to achieve better long range planning. The fourth program will assist those in the tourism industry in marketing their products. As I told reporters in Kingston, you can have the best tourism plant in the world, but if it's not marketed effectively, you will not realize its full potential.

Large festivals and special events which draw visitors from a large area will also receive special attention to cover marketing, administrative and programming costs. A sixth program which I feel is important, is the Investment Sourcing component which will match investors with facilities in need of private investment. Finally, the Destinations East initiative has identified a need for more major travel facilities, both public and private, to help attract more people who will stay longer and spend money. The new program will assist in the development of large facilities such as parks, hotels and attractions.

When the new government was formed over 14 months ago, Premier David Peterson identified Eastern Ontario as a region of the province with great potential for growth. The Destinations East initiative is the most recent in a series of programs which have been introduced over the last year to achieve this goal of our Government.

I am encouraging tourism operators, organizations and municipalities throughout Eastern Ontario to take advantage of these new programs. I hope those in Victoria - Haliburton will take special note. The opportunities in this sector of the economy are tremendous and I am confident these new programs will help those in Eastern Ontario to realize the potential available.

Council refuses offer

Anson, Hindon and Minden council has told Walter Ackerblade, a Minden area resident, that it will not accept his proposed gift of land on the north shore of Twelve Mile Lake until he has proved the land is indeed his.

Mr. Ackerblade claims that property on the lake close to the Peterson Road was inherited by his wife, Elizabeth, from her mother. Earlier this year, the Ackerblades put up a fence around the property they said had been inherited.

When the fence was erected, a number of area residents started a petition to protest the Ackerblade's claim. 150 names were gathered and the document was delivered to council.

Many area residents claim the disputed property has been used as a public beach for the last 30 years.

Although Mr. Ackerblade seemed to want to donate some of the property to the municipality - half of it, he said - he did not explain how or when it would be given.

"I can vouch for that land being a public beach for the last 40 years," Reeve Sinc Nesbitt told Mr. Ackerblade. "If it's always been a public beach, then let's keep it that way."

Councillor Verne Graham explained that if he wanted to claim the land, Mr. Ackerblade would have to hire a lawyer to fight the claims of the people on the petition who said the land is a public beach.

"There are all kinds of people laying claim to that land," Mr. Graham said.

"You're going to have to set aside a lot of money and time if you want to try to prove it's yours."

Mr. Ackerblade said he would look into the possibility.

From a survey that Mr. Ackerblade had done, council is satisfied that the disputed property is not public land. "It's not township road allowance and it's not shoreline allowance," said clerk-treasurer Bev. Millar.

Clarifications

A story in last week's edition of The Times reported on charges by Dysart Deputy Reeve Bill Davis that workers at county road construction sites were drinking on the job. While the report may have left the impression that all employees could have been involved, Mr. Davis has reiterated since then that his accusation was not aimed at members of the Haliburton County roads department staff.

In a second story concerning the Lutterworth township library, it was reported the facility was closed. The library is in fact still in operation, and will continue so while the council of the township considers the future of the facility. The library is open Thursday and Saturday from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.

ment; and the actual other costs incurred, up to $3,000.

Assistance will be available to those who want to start a new non-farming business. Applicants must make an investment matching at least 25 per cent of the grant paid under the program. Eligible applicants can receive $180 a week for a maximum of 26 weeks.

Program participants will be eligible for the full range of career and job counselling services at Canada Employment Centres. In addition, personal, legal and financial counselling will be available to help people fit into a new work environment and to adjust to the loss of their farm. Total cost of services up to $1,500 may be covered.

Fifty per cent of gross wages, up to a maximum of $3.50 an hour for 40 hours a week, can be reimbursed to employers. The period eligible for reimbursement will not exceed 26 weeks. This measure is intended to encourage employers to hire family members who have difficulty finding employment.

Farmers in Ontario requiring further information or assistance in completing applications should contact one of the following offices: Canada Farm Labour Pools, Canada Employment Centres, Farm Credit Corporation (for FCC borrowers).

Junior kickers lose 5-1 Senior team ties 1-1

The Junior Redmen soccer team was defeated 5-1 by Fenelon Falls. The Haliburton goal was scored by Derek Allison from a perfect throw-in by Gerald Morrison.

Other strong performers for Haliburton included Brian Waller and Mark Sorenson at midfield and both Darren Warburton and Gavin McKnight in goal.

Senior game

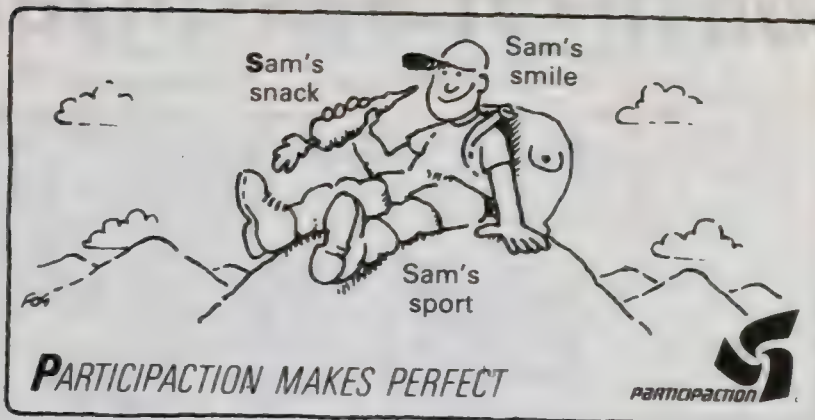

The Senior Redmen played their best game to date and came from behind to tie Fenelon 1-1, despite a strong opposing wind in the second half.

Darryl Goodall was outstanding in goal while Chris Lanigan, Cecil Smith and Trini Elias all played very well.

John Vanderhorst scored the single Haliburton goal on a fine individual effort.

Wednesday, October 1, the soccer teams travel to I.E. Weldon in Lindsay for a return match.

Agri-food week encourages purchase of local produce

The annual celebration of Agri-Food Week has been set for October 6 to 13 this year.

The purpose of the week is to help bring a greater awareness and appreciation of the importance of farming and related industries in the province.

It is also aimed at encouraging consumers to purchase Ontario agricultural products with the promotion of this year's Agri-Food Week slogan: Buy The Food Your Neighbour Grows.

Agriculture & Food Minister Jack Riddell noted

Driver injured

A single motor vehicle collision on Highway 121 at 11:30 p.m. Saturday evening sent a Goodwood area man to Toronto with head injuries. Ron Myers, age 48, of R.R. 1, Goodwood was a passenger in a car driven by Ross Jeffrey, age 23, from Pickering, when the car left the road on a curve east of Haliburton. The driver, who was also injured, has been charged with careless driving.

that between 130,000 and 150,000 people work on Ontario farms, with many thousands more employed in processing, packaging, transporting and selling the products.

"That makes it an extremely important industry in this province," Riddell said. "Agri-Food Week is a good time for all of us to remember the contributions that our farmers and others working in the industry make to our quality of life and to the economy."

The 1500 farmers in Victoria - Haliburton Counties produce close to $60,000,000 worth of food products each year, making this by far the largest and most important industry in the area.

Agri-Food Week is sponsored by the Federation of Agriculture, The Ministry of Agriculture and Food, and a number of local commodity groups.

Events this week:

Saturday, October 4, 1:00 p.m. Sheep Sale, sponsored by Victoria County Sheep Producers, at the Lindsay Central Exhibition Grounds
October 6 - 13: Agri-Food Week in Ontario.

Tuesday, October 7, 8:00

Snowdon hires officer

The Township of Snowdon has a new bylaw enforcement officer. The township's municipal council endorsed the appointment of Ernie Roylance for the post of bylaw enforcement officer and building inspector. The endorsement came at the council's September 15 meeting.

In other news from the council meeting, the township has endorsed a general insurance proposal submitted by Roma Insurance Programme Inc. Covering the period up to July 11, 1987. The coverage will cost $5428.

Redmen split pair

The HHSS football Redmen split a pair of games last Friday afternoon on their home turf as they faced two teams from Fenelon Falls Secondary School. The seniors captured a 23-0 shut-out from the visitors while the juniors, despite a valiant effort, took it on the chin, 27-0.

It was the second shut-out of the season for the seniors and right from the opening kick-off they established control of the game. They stopped Fenelon Falls team after two downs and a blocked punt. With the Redmen in possession for the first time, Andrew Burk ran 55 yards for a TD. Alex Little added another point on a successful conversion.

The teams traded the ball a number of times in the remaining minutes of the opening quarter, with a number of key defensive plays by Tran Larue and Drew Mitchell keeping the visitors off the scoreboard.

Following the change of ends, the Redmen marched down the field led by contributing plays by Jaro Cooper, Andrew Burk, Trevor Powers and Ian Cooper. At the Fenelon 20 yard line, Alex Little split the uprights for a field goal.

Late in the second quarter, Alex Little punted for the Redmen from his own 40 yard line. The Fenelon players fumbled the ball and Alex rushed in to reclaim possession on the visitor's 20 yard line. Three plays later the Redmen had scored their second touchdown of the game with Andrew Burk once again figuring in the scoring.

The first half ended with the Redmen holding a comfortable 16-0 lead.

Following the second half kick-off, the seniors took possession of the ball and began another march down the field. The TD came on a pass from Tom MacLeod to Ron Perrin in the end zone. Alex Little added the single.

The teams exchanged drives for the remainder of the game, but no further scoring occurred.

Coach Gary Brohman noted the efforts of the following players: on defense: Mike MacNaull for an excellent fumble recovery and Alan Rydman and Mike Blake; on offence: the entire team drew praise from the coach who pointed out that they ran the ball 28 times for 22 yards and passed 14 times for 98 yards.

Junior game

This contest proved to be a reverse of the senior effort, with the first year Redmen meeting a hardened, more experienced squad from Fenelon Falls. The visitors dominated the game, using their 18 most experienced players for the first three quarters. The juniors' lack of field experience was evident.

Coach John Fitzgerald noted that this is a learning year for the juniors and such costly mistakes as offside and illegal motion must be eliminated if the team is to win. He praised the team for working hard at attempting to master the game and the opponents Friday who were larger and obviously a second year team. Mr. Fitzgerald said the score was not indicative of the quality of play turned in by the team.

The coach cited outstanding performances from the following players: offensive team: Scott Russell, Jeff Feero, Mark Robinson and Cory Hynes who travelled 120 yards in 21 carries. Defensive team: Jason Rowden, Colin McKnight and Robert Walker.

The teams travel to Lindsay this Friday for games against LCVI. The juniors face another strong entry. The LCVI juniors defeated Fenelon Falls in an earlier contest this season.

The juniors play at 1:30 with the seniors taking to the field immediately following that game, at approximately 3 p.m.

Making good use of the colourful shower

Those autumn leaves needn't be just a nuisance when they fall.

Instead of bagging them or burning them, you can turn them into a rich fertilizer for your garden.

Those leaves, in fact, kept the forest floor fertile for centuries. Pioneers benefited from good yields when they first cleared the trees and planted their crops. But that organic matter has been depleted over the years. Leaves can help restore it.

The modern-day farmer or gardener can speed up nature's processes by composting leaves, and other plant or animal matter, in piles. Making a compost pile is very simple.

To start, select a shaded site not far from the house so the pile can be watered if needed. That way, it will also be handy for adding kitchen wastes. A properly built pile will not give off an offensive odour.

The base of the pile should be between three and five feet square, and it should be built three to five feet high.

You can remove a few inches of topsoil from the site, creating a small pit. This will enhance its contact with the earth and encourage soil life, such as earthworms, to migrate into the pile and held with later stages of digestion. The soil you remove can be sprinkled over the various layers as you build them to aid decomposition.

It's best to use a variety of organic matter if you can. Layers of leaves, garden wastes, weeds (you can leave the soil on the roots), kitchen scraps, spoiled hay or straw and manure can all be used. In fact, anything that has been alive can be composted, but the coarser and denser it is, such as wood, the longer it will take to break down.

Layer of stalks

Some people start with a layer of coarse material, such as corn or sunflower stalks or raspberry canes. This will improve aeration and drainage.

If you're building the pile mainly of leaves, it's suggested that manure be added. Six inches of leaves in alternate layers with two to three inches of manure, make a good combination.

Build the edges of the pile first, then fill the centre as you work it up, so it holds its form as it grows. Taper the pile inwards near the top. Wooden frames or rolls of wire or snow fence can be used to contain the pile.

An inch of soil on the top and as much as possible on the sides, provides a good skin to protect the pile. A covering of hay or straw will also moderate the effects of sun and rain.

If the pile is built in dry weather, dish the top to collect moisture. If built in wet weather, it should have a rounded top so rain will run off better.

Moisture is critical. A properly made compost should have the consistency of a squeezed out sponge when you squeeze a handful of the material. With the proper moisture, the pile will heat up over the first few days to about 140 degrees F (60 degrees C). At that temperature, many weed seeds will be killed. If it's too dry and gets too hot, a lot of nitrogen will be burned off.

Mushrooms growing on the pile are a good sign that it's working.

Compost is usually ready for spreading in two to six months, depending on the type of material in it and the time of year. Obviously not much activity will take place during the winter, but a pile made this fall could be ready by next summer.

Bacterial starters are available to aid the composting process. Turning the pile will also help, although it isn't necessary. If you do turn it, make sure matter from the outside of the pile is put in the centre so it will break down better.

Composting can be done on a farm scale using a power take-off spreader. Manure is unloaded in windrows and allowed to decompose before being spread on the field.

You'll know the compost's ready when you reach in for a handful. It will be black and crumbly to the touch, although you will still see the structure of the original material. It will smell like rich soil with no manure or rotting odour.

The compost is now ready to be spread on the garden and worked in. It is rich in organic matter in a form ready for further digestion by soil life. Weed, pest and disease problems, often spread with raw matter, are minimized by composting first.

For further information on composting, contact Sir

Sandford Fleming College's Farm Management Program, Frost Campus, at Box 8000, Lindsay, Ontario, K9V 5E6 - or call (705) 324-9144.

Liberals select area directors

submitted

A general meeting of the Haliburton County Liberal Association was held on September 24 at the Christian Education building in Carnarvon. At this meeting a new executive and directors were elected for the upcoming year. They are as follows: President - Joan Sawyer; Vice-President - Ray Selbie; Secretary Treasurer - Linda Salvatori; Directors: Denise Fitzgerald - Cardiff; Harold Herlihey - Wilberforce; Earl Johnston - Gooderham; Helen Leighton - Haliburton; Glenna Buckham - Haliburton; Mike Wedman - Kennis Lake; Diane Cowen - Stanhope; Lorne Greenaway - Dorset; Verne Graham - Minden; Cliff & Jean Lacey - Lutterworth; Ernie Hills - Kinmount; and Helen Burk - Lochlin.

Also present at the meeting was the president of the Victoria - Haliburton Provincial Association, Ivan Reynolds. He spoke to us about some changes that have taken place in the riding of Victoria - Haliburton.

Bruce Glass, from Lindsay, spoke about the upcoming policy convention of the federal Liberals that will be held in Ottawa during the month of November.

The Haliburton Liberal Association has many plans for the upcoming year that we hope will prosper this area.

The meeting adjourned at 10:00 p.m. and a social hour was held.

Province releases flood plan policy draft

A draft policy statement on flood plain planning was jointly released for public comment recently by the Ministers of Natural Resources and Municipal Affairs. It proposes greater flexibility in addressing development on flood plain lands.

Flood plain policies were first approved by Cabinet in 1979. These policies underwent a format public review in 1983 with the establishment of the Flood Plain Review Committee. Since that time, work has proceeded on revisions to the policies.

"These proposed revisions to the policies would result in greater consideration of local needs and conditions," Natural Resources Minister Vincent Kerrio said. "They would also provide more opportunities for public input into flood plain management decisions."

Municipal Affairs Minister Bernard Grandmaitre said, "The draft policy statement emphasizes greater recognition of flood plain management in the land use planning process in Ontario."

Mr. Kerrio said, "Although changes are proposed, the basic concept of flood plain management remains unchanged - to ensure that new developments are not susceptible to flooding and to avoid problems for existing development."

Flood plain management will continue to be administered on a watershed basis by the conservation authorities or by the Ministry of Natural Resources where conservation authorities do not exist, together with the local municipalities and planning boards.

"To date, this is the third policy statement initiated under section 3 of the Planning Act," Mr. Grandmaitre said. "The first on mineral aggregate resources, has been publicly reviewed and formally approved by Cabinet. The second, on foodland preservation, has just recently completed the public review process."

Copies of the draft flood plain planning policy statement are being distributed to all municipalities, interested groups and individuals, and various public agencies. As well, all those who provided comments on the recommendations of the Flood Plain Review Committee are also being forwarded copies.

All comments on the draft policy statement are to be received by the Ministry of Natural Resources no later than December 31, 1986.

Copies of the draft policy statement can be obtained from any office of the Ministry of Natural Resources, or the Ministry of Municipal Affairs.

Senior curlers ready for 1986-87 season

The Annual General Meeting of the Minden Seniors Curling Club, which drew an attendance of some 80 to 90 members and prospective members, was held in the curling rink on Monday, September 22.

Following a review of the Club's activities during the past year by President Harold Morgan, and reception of reports by other Club officers, the election of new officers and directors was held. The successful candidates who will hold office for the next two years are:

President: Ed Pettinger; Vice-President: Stan Hill; Treasurer: Sid Adamson; Secretary: Hal McCarthy; Directors: Jack Basset, Frank Codlin, Gwen Cox, Bill Donnelly, Milt Endicott and Ralph Kennedy.

In his acceptance speech, Ed Pettinger commented upon the degree of success the club had achieved since its inception, and stressed that, if this success were to be continued, the support and help of everyone was essential. Members should be prepared, if called upon, to serve on committees and to carry out any tasks associated with the club's activities.

The meeting ended on a lighter note with a wine and cheese party, which everyone seemed to enjoy. Though it has still to be confirmed, it is expected that curling will start this season in the first week of November on the same basis as has been so popular in other years. Men: Monday afternoons. Ladies: Wednesday afternoons. Mixed: Friday afternoons.

HHSS music awards

This year's HHSS awards night, planned for October 25, will include a number of new presentations thanks to the efforts of the Haliburton County Music Fund.

Set up under the guidance of Don Mintz, the fund was formed to reward high school students in grades 10 to 13, members of both the stage and concert bands, who demonstrate a natural interest in and constant improvement in their musical ability. The creation of these special awards was carried out with the help of the Haliburton County Board of Education and the HHSS Bursary Committee.

The fund will award five $50 prizes this year. The winners will be announced at the awards night. Members of the fund who contributed to this year's awards are John Stainton, Mike Vuksic, Don Mintz, Bill Kulas and Joe Cannon.

Something new at library

As they say, there is always something new at your public library and the ten branches of Haliburton County Public Library are no exception. If you haven't visited one of our branches lately, you have no idea of what you have been missing. New materials, new services and new programmes are always in season.

There's always something new at the library ... Just received is Pierre Berton's new book entitled Vimy, the story of Canadian troops and their epic battle for Vimy Ridge as part of what has been called The Great War or the War to End All Wars. A tremendous amount of blood had been spilled in trying to take Vimy and no one was really certain it could be done; not the French who had already lost 150,000 troops in trying, the British and for sure not the Germans - but on Easter Monday in 1917, the Canadians went over the top and by lunch time and with a loss of 10,000 men, the ridge had been. The big question: why? Simple says Berton. The Canadians were really just civilians in uniform who were not prone to thinking like military men and were able to "wing it", as it were. Remember, some of these men were sixteen years of age who had had to do what was regarded as being impossible.

There's always something new at the library ... Rock Hudson: His Story is an autobiography of note, even if only because his long-standing desire for simple privacy. For nearly forty years he had played the studio's game to meet what they thought that his public wanted. He had been seen escorting pretty girls, everyone knows about Doris Day; he was even known to have a good time at a party. But underneath it all, there was another Rock Hudson, who had to be kept secret to protect his career so that he could even have a career.

There's always something new at the library ... Need something a little more practical? How about PC DOS Users' Guide for those who are heavily into computers and need specific information. Too advanced right now? Try Small Computers for the Small Businessman or The Complete Book of Home Computers. One of the best introductions for beginning computer people is Your First Computer by Zaks. Maybe they can help you into the Handbook of Budgeting which has also just been added.

Even if you are not into books or reading, there's always something new at the library ... In the way of Talking Books. Our collection has been improved through the new addition of Shari Lewis: One Minute Bedtime Stories, Paddington Bear: Trouble at the Airport, There's a Bat in Bunk Five and many more in the adult area. We can also borrow from the extensive collection of Trent Regional Library and are only too pleased to do so. Find out more.

Don't want to read or listen? There's still something new at the library ... we have an extensive collection of 16 mm films and access to those in other film pools across the region approaching 10,000 titles! We even rent the projector and have screens as well! Ask us for more information.

And that's not all - there's much more. I haven't even told you about our world-famous 15 cent U-DO-IT photocopier copier that reduces and enlarges. One more reason to say ... If you haven't visited your local branch of the Haliburton County Public Library lately, you should really see what's new for you!

HONDA SNOWTHROWERS

BUY OUR SNOWTHROWER AND WE'LL BUY YOUR SHOVEL FOR $50.00*

This year, we'd like to take the load off your back and a shovel off your hands. If you bring your old snow shovel, or any old shovel at all, in to us we'll give you $50.00 off when you buy any Honda snowthrower.

There are three Honda models to choose from. From 3.5 to 8 horsepower.

Every Honda snowthrower has a reliable four-stroke engine so there's no messy gas and oil mixing. They can clear depths of up to a foot and a half depending on the model. And the two larger models have dual-track drive and three forward speeds, plus reverse, to really plough through drifts.

So this winter, get the load off your back. Start throwing snow our way and we'll throw $50.00 your way. If you catch our drift.

Rizpah Elstone marks 100 years

Rizpah Elstone was a very happy woman last Thursday; that was the day she became 100 years old. Admittedly, there is another lady in the county who's just a few months older, but that small fact did nothing to dampen the spirits of Rizpah or any other member of her five generation family on the celebration of Rizpah's centennial.

Born on September 25, 1886 in a farmhouse on the shores of Soyers Lake, Rizpah has spent most of her life working on that same spread of land.

Her parents, Elizabeth and Joseph Dummet, emigrated in 1869 from Somerset County, in England. They settled first in the Woodstock area of southern Ontario but came north to Minden Township as the land was being opened up, just before Rizpah was born.

As one of 12 children born to farming parents, Rizpah learned early the value and necessity of hard work. The family spread, at the head of Soyers Lake - it was rough land - was just sufficient for a herd of cattle and crops to feed the family through the year.

In 1903 at the age of 17, Rizpah was married to Edward Elstone, an offspring like herself of English immigrants.

When her father retired a few years later, Rizpah and her husband moved onto the Dummet homestead and took over the land. They continued to farm, but in 1921 the Elstone's started a small tourist business where they would provide a bed and meals for the thin stream of vacationers which were just then beginning to trickle into Haliburton County during the hot summers in those early years.

Rizpah and Edward had six children. In order of age they were Clifford, Harry, George, Isabella, Marvis and Harold.

Edward died in 1946, and since then three of the children have died as well. Helping to celebrate mother's birthday on Friday were daughters Marvis and Isabella, and son Clifford. (Clifford turned 82 a few days earlier on September 21).

Isabella remembers her mother as a disciplinarian. "She was the one who got things going and carried the whip in the family. I remember mother waking us up at four in the morning to get the tourist laundry done. And then of course there was breakfast to be made."

But the memories of all three children are fond ones. "You had to work hard in those days," says Marvis. "We didn't have all the modern conveniences then that people have now and the only way to do everything was to get up early."

At the party, which was held at Isabella's house, not far from the original homestead on Soyers Lake, Rizpah was smiling and clearly delighted to be at the centre of festivities.

Up until a very short time ago she would have been up and about and bustling with everyone else, but since breaking her leg last year she's had to take things more easily. After the accident she moved - finally, at age 99 - out of her home and into Extendicare where she could get the necessary medical attention.

Asked by their mother has managed to stay healthy and active for so long, Isabella and Marvis don't need to think very long. "It's all that hard work," they explain. "That's what mother's secret is."

Volunteers help at centre

by Jane Selbie

(Intended for last week)

Without our volunteers the Information Centre would be hard pressed to offer full service to our County residents.

To salute them, we held a Volunteer Appreciation Luncheon at our Annual Meeting on September 22. From the laughter and empty buffet table we can judge that everyone enjoyed themselves. Since money is no object (ho!ho!) extravagant prizes were issued to each volunteer which will be a priceless keepsake for years to come.

Our salute goes to Mary Hannah, Eleanor Holmes, Cecile McLeod, Agnes Orr, Betty Morrow, Isabel Palmateer, Max and Betty Strang, Jim Wilkinson, Bill Findlay, John Spencley and Walter Thomas.

No one really recognizes or thanks another group who invest endless hours to the operation of this office; they are the Board Members. They are Dorothy Baker, Claire MacLeod, Alberta Maitland, Peggy Podmore, Aileen Robertson, Billie Shuyler, Allan Stott, Maurice Winterflood, and Alex Stevenson. They are the visionaries who worked to get the Centre into operation and are thrilled to see the many needs we are meeting.

Important brochures

Old Age pensioners who are house-bound or south bound often use the service offered by the Federal Government to have their cheques directly deposited into the bank on their behalf. This service is a step and time save but has its drawbacks.

The helpful information enclosed in with the cheque is not received by the pensioner. Many times rate changes or senior services are not seen by payee as they end up in the bank garbage cans.

Now we've got news for you! The Haliburton County Information Centre has approached each bank within our County and they have agreed to make these brochures available on the counters. Pensioners can pick them up sometime during the month. It was easy to arrange as the banks were more than willing to offer this service. The banks contacted were: the Bank of Montreal in Haliburton, the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce in Haliburton and Minden, the Bank of Nova Scotia in Wilberforce and the Toronto Dominion Bank in Minden.

We hope this will help many of the pensioners. If you have questions or a problem you don't know how to solve, call the Information Centre 457-2733.

Do you know a young person who went that extra mile?

The search is on for Ontario Junior
Citizens of the Year.

Do you know someone in your community, between the ages of 6 and 18 years, who has gone that extra mile? Someone who has shown selfless service, resourcefulness, ingenuity, or acts of courage — that "good kid"? Someone special that you think should be recognized?

You can help Canadian Pacific Air Lines and the Ontario Community Newspapers Association honour these kids by nominating them for an Ontario Junior Citizen of the Year Award.

Contact your local community newspaper. The deadline for individual and group nominations is October 31, 1986. Ontario Junior Citizens of the Year recipients will receive a plaque, a cash prize, a family photo portrait with the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, and a lapel pin.

Contact our Junior Citizens' Co-ordinator, Jack Brezina, at 286-1288.

Why not honour a deserving kid this year?

Mrs. Henry Howe of Minden recently enjoyed the company of her offspring representing a span of five generations. Surrounded by her family, Mrs. Howe's family includes, from the left, her daughter Valerie Rescola of Bellingham, Washington, granddaughter Mrs. Linda Long of Toronto, her great-granddaughter Mrs. Lisa Reed of Orillia, while seated on her knee is her great-great-granddaughter Loretta Reed.

Well folks, winter is really coming. The wild geese are leaving for the sunny south. The beautiful leaves will soon be gone.

I am always pleased to report Sunday evening service was conducted by Rev. and Mrs. Burgess. The Tuesday morning service was taken by Rev. Jim Creighton of Haliburton United Church. We liked him very much and hope he will be back soon.

The movies Monday night were 'Colour It Living' and 'Beaver Dam' and 'Edible Plants'.

Edna Cowan had a visit from her step daughter Fern Miller and her daughter-in-law Marilyn Congdon.

Sorry to report Amelia Good is on the sick list.

Ada Allcorn had her niece Gwen Graham in for a visit and dinner.

Our tea party ladies on Thursday were from the United Church in Kinmount. As usual the lunch was delicious and the music supplied by Doris, Percy Brintnell and Mr. Moore was also very nice.

Birthday folks were Mrs. Eastman, Mrs. Simmons,

Mrs. Oliver, Mrs. Kirkpatrick and Mr. Moore. Doris took a bus load on Friday to Dorset to view the beautiful trees. The weather wasn't very nice but they had a very nice time regardless.

Jean Taylor was out for the day on Saturday with her niece and husband. Jean Hewitt spent the day on Wednesday helping her mother quilt.

On Friday Charlie Brohm and I spent the day in Cobocok visiting friends and relatives at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Falkner. Thank you Myrtle and Ross.

Walter Ackerblade was in and dined with his sister Mrs. Buttery last week.

I just learned that Miss Dora Dawson is coming to dwell at Hyland Crest and we sure extend her a hearty welcome.

Sorry to report the illness of two of our residents in hospital - Gordon Ruttle and Elmer Crawford. We wish them well.

Worry is like a rocking chair. It gives you something to do, but doesn't get you anywhere.

See you next week.

Staanworth Court residents' report

Very recently our residents of Staathworth Court were entertained by Mr. R. Munns. We truly enjoyed his music as he sang many familiar songs to his own accompaniment on the guitar. We hope to see Mr. Munns and his wife again soon. The evening's enjoyment closed with lunch and birthday cake for four of our residents - Mary Stata, Len Trodd, George Inch and Fred Gates. Many happy days ahead, folks.

Labour Day set the time for the draw on our beautiful quilt. We congratulate Mrs. Burkitt, R. R. 1, Minden, who held the winning ticket no. 502. May you enjoy it Bertha, as much as it gave pleasure to do.

Some of our residents, Eleanor and Frank Ferris, Lilian and George Davidson, Melissa Hampson, Kathy Thorn, Florence Lindsay and Margaret Horsley took part in a bus trip to Pembroke and from there on a houseboat north up the Ottawa River to within sight of Petawawa.

Many places of interest were pointed out by the young man at the wheel such as the lighthouse still intact, and the fact that logs to the depth of 12 ft. still remain submerged at one point in the river.

We thank Darlene McElwain who did so well in making our trip as interesting and comfortable as she could.

Much sympathy and concern goes out of the people who lost their homes and to Mr. Connaughan who lost his business in the tragic fire that ravaged main street recently in Haliburton.

We welcome our new residents Mr. and Mrs. Marsh and Mrs. Audrey Curry. We hope you will enjoy living with us.

Vivian and Ernie Anderson have returned after a very pleasant trip and visit with relatives in Temple, Texas. They had the pleasure of visiting the historical site at the Alamo, which was built in 1718 as a fortress and church but later in 1836 was the centre of a war between the Texans and Mexicans. Many artifacts were on display there.

From there the Andersons proceeded to Pasadena and on to Temple where they took part in their grandson's wedding. Glad to see you back, folks.

We are glad to see Len Trodd looking so well after his medical care.

Emily Poole had a very enjoyable visit with relatives and friends in Richmond Hill, Napanee and Belleville.

Jean Cowan is home again recuperating after a serious operation. Get well soon Jean.

Henry and Vera Howe were recently visited by their granddaughter Lisa and family from Orillia.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Vasey combined a business and pleasure trip to Toronto where Mark was able to receive medical care at Sunnybrook Hospital and Carrie was able to see her Dr. also at his office. From there they proceeded to visit their son Hugh, and his wife Bev on the occasion of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

Melissa Hampson spent the long weekend with her son and family at Port McNichol.

As I look from my apartment to the neighbouring hills and behold their splendor, I fill with emotion and think of the lines of the poem: -

"Poems are made by fools like me,

But only God can make a tree."

May you all enjoy our beautiful scenery - nature at her best.

(These items were brought to my attention and are of interest to our residents. See you next month.)

Hi Kids!!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off in the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Q: Why did the boy scout feel dizzy?

A: Because he did too many good turns.

Q: Why is a snake smart?
A: Because you can't pull its leg.

Q: Why was the little strawberry so upset?

A: Because its mother and father were in a jam.

Q: Why is a barn so noisy?

A: Because all the cows have horns.

Q: What do you call musical insects?

A: Humbugs.

Branch 129

by Gerald Irish

The sod turning ceremony and speeches are over. The Seniors' Apartments are on their way to becoming a reality. After a few years of proposals, refusals and re-proposals, they are under way. The speakers all referred to the involvement of community organizations, such as The Legion, as being the driving force behind any project or large undertaking such as this. Legionnaires can be proud of their part in making the dream become a reality. This was quite a way to wind up Legion Week.

On October 29 and 30, the first interviews with applicants for apartments will be held. Some time in February the successful applicants will be notified.

Just Plain Country played to a full house on Saturday night. This group of country western entertainers are fine musicians and provide enjoyable music for listening and dancing.

Many Branch 129 Legionnaires attended the District Drumhead Service at Picton on Sunday. This ceremony is always most impressive. Haliburton will play host to next year's District Drumhead.

Associate Members, please note. The Associate's Dinner will be held October 24. If you plan to attend, please sign the sheet in the Club Room. It is important that the people preparing the meal know how many will attend.

It is difficult to write these articles about Branch 129 without showing partiality to the president of the branch, my wife. I have tried over the past year and a half to do this, but now, for one time only, I am going to indulge myself and report my honest impressions about our president.

I am very proud of this fine lady who is our president and never more so than on Sunday at the dedication ceremony of the Seniors' Apartments. Joan not only participated fully, but delivered an intelligent, informative address to the assemblage. We are indeed fortunate to have her at the helm of the good ship Branch 129. Thank you Joan for being our president and for doing such a great job. Not only am I proud to be your husband, but also I am proud to be a member of your executive, working for Branch 129.

The General Meeting will be held October 2 at 8 p.m.

Jim Tice, your branch manager, is away on holidays this week. We all hope he and his wife Janet have a great time. Jim has worked long hours and done yeoman service for us. He has earned a good break.

Plumpkins ready for weigh-in Last spring, the Minden and District Horticultural Society distributed Special Pumpkin Seeds to some thirty families. The purpose of this was to see who could grow the largest pumpkin, by October 1986.

This contest has created a great deal of interest and great rivalry between neighbours and other contestants.

It wasn't the best year for pumpkin growth, due to adverse weather conditions, but that hasn't dampened the spirits of those participating.

Germination of the seed was almost 100%. Cold nights, cool days and wet weather certainly hindered growth, but location and tender care has helped the cause.

Some great stories have come to light:

One Sunday morning one of the contestants was sitting in his home, and very proudly looked out at his magnificent pumpkin vines. A couple of hours later he sat in the same place, but alas, the pumpkin vines! What had happened to them? Stepping out-of-doors and much to his surprise all the leaves had disappeared. Mr. Groundhog has stopped by for Sunday lunch, a delicious meal of pumpkin leaves, leaving only the skeleton of the plant.

The contestants have been using various means of promoting growth. We hear that one man thought beer would be just the thing to provide food. It had such great effect that his pumpkin blew up. So?

Needless to say there will be other good stories.

Contestants are asked to bring their pumpkins to the Municipal Building at 7:00 p.m., Tuesday, October 7 for the weigh-in. Gord Samuels will be in charge of the scales. So are you going to be there for a first, second or third prize?

This is also the regular meeting night. The last competition of the season will be held. Three categories - 1. Weeds N' Woods; 2. Gypsy Fires; 3. Coaster or doily - using pressed flowers and leaves.

There will be a special treat as well, Dennis Barry, (son of Mrs. Fred Barry) who has spent considerable time in northern Canada will show slides of flowers and scenery of the Arctic regions. So come along, everyone is welcome - no admission and there will be draws as usual.

John Eakins, M.P.P.

invites his constituents to use this toll free telephone number if his office can be of assistance.

CARD OF THANKS

At this time I would like to thank Dolores and Doug at Nor-Mandy Acres for the professional personal and loving care they gave to my mom during her happy days with them. With my and her love. Skip

In loving memory of Jan Hewson who passed away September 10, 1986. We would all like to take this time to thank all of the many people in town and friends who helped, supported and cared for us during our time of great sorrow. Thank you so much to all.

Jack, Penny and Jerry, Lynda and Bob, Chuck and Sue, John and Janice, Wendy and Dave.

CARD OF THANKS

A heartfelt thank you to St. Paul's Anglican Church for allowing the use of their building for our Recognition Service. Sincerely,

Minden Fellowship Baptist Church

Thank you to our family and friends who celebrated our 25th anniversary with us and to the County Warden's office for their presentation. You have given us many more good times and happy memories to crowd into these two words - thank you!

Neil & Norma

Thanks to my family and friends for their visits while I was in the hospital and visits since I've been home. Your phone calls and cards were greatly appreciated. Special thanks to Dr. Lodenquai, nurses and staff at Minden Hospital.

Oswald Snell

IN MEMORIAM

HARRISON

In loving memory of my parents Laura, who passed on September 29, 1984 and David, June 17, 1980.

A silent thought, a secret tear Keeps those memories ever dear Time takes away the edge of grief But memories turn back every leaf.

Sadly missed by their son, Harold.

In loving memory of our dear sister, Laura Harrison, passed away September 29, 1984.

In our hearts your memory lingers Sweetly tender, fond and true There is not a day, dear Laura That we do not think of you.

Lovingly remembered by Annie, May and Ernie.
